Why Not

make the baby fat? For the thin baby is delicate, and is not half so cunning.

Give the thin baby Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites.

Scott's Emulsion is as easy a food as milk. It is much more effective in making thin babies fat, and they like it.

If all the babies that have been made fat and chubby and well by Scott's Emulsion could only tell their story to the mothers of other sickly babies!

There wouldn't be enough to go round.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

But the Man Got Away.

They came on a train from the north the other day and headed up Jefferson avenue holding each other by the hand.
They had left the depot only two blocks behind when they came to a man sitting on a box in front of a store, and as he caught sight of them a grin crept over his face like molasses spreading out on a shingle.

"Grinning at us, I suppose?" queried the young man as he came to a halt.

"Yes," frankly replied the sifter.

"Tickles you most to death to see us take hold of hands, don't it?"

"It does."

"And you imagine you can see us feeding each other caramels, can't you?"

"I can."

"And you shake all over at the way we gawp around and keep our mouths open?"

"That's me."

"Well, this is me! I'm not party, and I haven't been cultivated between the rows, nor hilled up nor fertilized.
I haven't what you call stall fed, and the girl ain't no prize chromo, but it won't take over a minute to jam you seven feet into the ground. I told Lucy I was going to begin on the first man who looked cross-eyed at us, and you are the chap. Prepare yourself to be pulverized!"

"Beg pardon, but I didn't mean—"

"Yes, you did! Lucy, hold my hat while I mop the walk with him!"

"Say—hold on—say—"

He took to the middle of the street like a runaway horse, and the young man took after him, but it was no use.
After a race of a block the man who grinned gained so fast that the other stopped short and went back to his girl and his hat. Stretching forth his hand to the innocent maiden, he remarked:

"Lucy, clasp on to that, and if you let go for the next two hours I'll never call you by the sacred name of wife."

—Detroit Free Press.

Just as a Favor.

The man who knows it all had been talking, and in his superior way had settled every question that had come up until the quiet little man was moved to speak.

"Will you grant me one little favor?" he asked humbly, as became a man who realized that he was addressing one who knows it all.

"Certainly," replied the other.

"What is it?"

"Well, will you kindly permit me to know something about one or two subjects in which I am personally interested if I will concede all the knowledge of everything else to you?"

And after that there was a lull in the conversation that seemed to indicate that permission had been given.—Chicago Post.

A Misapprehension.

Muggins—Do you think smoking is injurious?

Buggins—Well, I know a man who smokes 1,500 a day and—Muggins—Impossible! Fifteen hundred cigars a day! Bah!

Buggins—Who said anything about cigars? I referred to herring.—Philadelphia Record.

Not So Expensive, After All.

A.—When I come to reckon up what I have to pay for my shooting license and firearms, the suits of clothes and boots I wear out, and the neglect of my business, every bare I shoot costs me 30 marks.

B.—In that case how lucky it is you shoot so few!—Humoristische Blatter.

Winkers Succeeded.

Binkers—Has Winkers succeeded in teaching his daughter to ride her new bicycle yet?

Minkers—Yes, she is out riding now.

"Is Winkers with her?"

"No, he's in a hospital."—New York Weekly.

Italian Superstition.

Superstition reigns tyrannically in many rural districts in Italy. Lately a fortune teller prophesied to a young farmer and his sister, living near Noto, Sicily, that on the evening before a certain feast day both would die a violent death. This so affected the minds of the poor dupes that they became insane and rushed shrieking through the streets. A brother of these unfortunates then came somehow to the conclusion that the calamity was due to the witchcraft of their stepmother, and in a fit of blind rage he killed the poor woman with a hoe.—Philadelphia Ledger.

It appears that a species of true crocodile is found in southern Florida on both coasts. It is hardly distinguishable from the alligator except by the shape of its head, though it grows bigger and attains a length of 18 feet.

sold for 3 cents.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 13.—Irregularity and a feverish tone were the main characteristics of to-day's share speculation. The course of the market also reflected the elimination on the previous day of a considerable proportion of the short interest. The volume of business showed a considerable increase. The industrial led in the extent of trading, although the railway list also made a good record in that respect. The market elements were conflicting and hence the irregularity of movement that has been noted. The opening was firm and moderately active, despite the lower London quotations. In the first hour the bears made an effective drive at Manhattan based on the unfavorable showing of the company for the year revealing a deficit of $391,788, as compared with a surplus last year of $240,180, making a total deficit of $631,968. The closing was weak at material declines from the best figures of the day.

Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—There was a better feeling on the board of trade to-day.
All the markets closed with respectable advances over last night's prices. This, too, in spite of a continuance of the discouraging reports both with regard to the crop situation in this country and cables which gave no boom to the market.

The leading futures ranged to-day as follows:

What Is an Edition?

What is an edition? Does it consist of 1,000 volumes or of 500 or 50 or 5?
The word is not a technical term like "gross" or "dozen" or any like expression bearing a fixed numerical significance, and there is, of course, no reason why it should not mean anything from the lowest to the highest of these numbers, according to the taste and fancy, or it may be the tactics, of the particular publisher who employs it. Only now that that enterprising person shows himself so anxious to keep the public regularly informed as to the sales of the works issuing from his house it might be as well to come to some understanding on this point. We know what is meant when we read that Miss Abnera Daring's new novel is "in its twentieth thousand," whereas the statement that it is "in its forty-fifth edition," conveys to us simply no information at all.
